HERTER URGES RUSSIA TO END ISSUE OVER BERLIN BY UNITING DIVIDED CITY

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

GENEVA (AP)—With secret Big Four talks on Germany scheduled to start Friday, U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter urged Russia today to negotiate a Berlin settlement which would unite that divided city under its own constitution pending German unification.

A spokesman for Communist East Germany's delegation declared at once that discussions of German questions by the Big Four could only be held when East and West German representatives were present.

STATE GIVEN FBI REPORT ON LYNCHING

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The governor of Mississippi, the judge who would have presided at the rape trial of Mack Charles Parker, and the district attorney were at odds today over what to do with the FBI's report on the lynching of the 23-year-old Negro.

Gov. J. P. Coleman received what he described as a comprehensive report from the FBI Monday after the Department of Justice bowed out of the scene with an announcement it had found no evidence of a federal law violation.

About 40 FBI agents had been concentrated in the area around Poplarville in southwestern Mississippi ever since a band of masked and hooded men seized Parker on April 25, two days before he was scheduled to go on trial on charges of raping a 24-year-old pregnant white mother. His body was found in the Pearl River May 4.

"The proper procedure," Coleman said, "is that I shall make this information available to the (Turn to Page Fourteen)

St. Louis Paper Resumes After Long Shutdown

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Globe-Democrat will resume publication next Monday, after a three-month shutdown because of a strike, publisher Richard H. Amberg announced today.

Signing of a contract with the striking American Newspaper Guild is scheduled for Wednesday. Pickets are to be removed at that time.

The publisher said the newspaper has either reached agreement or made arrangement for arbitration with 11 mechanical unions for termination of their contracts.

This was made necessary by sale of the Globe-Democrat building and printing equipment to the Post-Dispatch a week after the strike began Feb. 21. The afternoon Post-Dispatch will print the morning Globe-Democrat under contract, but the two newspapers will remain otherwise independent.

The Globe-Democrat will remain in its building temporarily. Under the new arrangement, the Globe-Democrat will continue to publish a Sunday edition. "It will be a Sunday edition that will go on the news stands from 9 a. m. Saturday until late Sunday," Amberg explained. He said sections containing late news will be inserted periodically.

Cleveland Teen-agers Foiled In Plan to Form Nazi Party

CLEVELAND (AP)—The boy is 15, has an IQ in the genius range and when he goes into something he pours his soul into it.

When he took up piano, he practiced four hours a day. Then it was nothing but rockets. That lasted until one of his gang was injured while building a launcher.

This time he went in the wrong direction and too far. He and his three companions planned to organize a Nazi-like party. The boy said in juvenile court Monday the plan was to overthrow the U. S. government.

What they actually did, the court was told, was to raid the Bonds for Israel office in downtown Cleveland April 11, cutting up an Israeli flag and painting swastikas on the walls.

The Rev. Everett Ostrom, who appeared with the four in court, blamed a "special study class in politics" at Collinwood High School. The "führer" of the group is a straight-A student at Collinwood and has an IQ of 148, the minister said.

The Rev. Mr. Ostrom, pastor of the First Covenant Church, said the boy showed no interest in political ideologies before taking the special course about two years ago. He said he felt the course failed to present democratic ideology adequately.

Town Council Takes Lie Detector Test

SOUTH KINGSTON, R. I. (AP)—The five members of the Town Council have agreed to put their honesty to a lie detector test.

They volunteered to submit to the test after a row Monday night over drainage pipe purchases.

The question: "During your time in office have you ever been aware or been part of a dishonest transaction involving town monies over which the council has control?"

Voters Flocking To the Polls in Kentucky Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentuckians flocked to the polls in what may become record numbers today to choose gubernatorial and other party nominees—a choice which could affect the 1960 Democratic presidential convention.

Long lines of voters stood at the polls in many areas. Most were Democrats balloting for a gubernatorial nominee.

The Democrats will choose between Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield and former Appellate Court Judge Bert T. Combs for the state's top post.

Early morning rains slowed the vote in a few areas but only one county reported lighter than usual balloting. Heavy rains in some areas Wednesday night brought out farmers whose lands were too wet to work today.

Voting in Lexington, Louisville and several other major cities was extremely heavy. One precinct here was rushed an extra voting machine to take care of the overflow. Another precinct reported 50 persons in line.

If Waterfield wins the Democratic nomination and beats former Congressman John Robison, the Republican candidate, in November, the presidential ambitions of Gov. A. B. Chandler will be boosted.

Chandler, who cannot succeed himself after a four-year term, supports Waterfield. A Waterfield victory would assure Chandler of the state's 30 votes at the Democratic National Convention.

Missing Professor Is Located on West Coast

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A married University of Pittsburgh instructor who allegedly faked his own death and disappeared after a reported romance with a coed has been located on the West Coast, according to a relative.

The relative was quoted by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Monday night that Ronald T. Field, 27, phoned his parents last Saturday and they left to see him. Field's exact whereabouts was not disclosed by the relative.

Field, an instructor in insurance at Pitt and a supply minister of the Methodist Church, disappeared May 12. His auto was found wrecked at the bottom of a steep Monongahela River embankment near here. Authorities feared he might have drowned.

The national call for July is 8,000 men. Previous draft calls this year in Pennsylvania were January 624, February 648, March 588, April 531, May 463, June 460.

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence today endorsed a new House Ways and Means Committee plan restoring the 50-cent exemption from the 3½ per cent sales tax on restaurant meals.

"We felt extension of the tax down to meals costing more than 10 cents was hitting a lot of people in the lower income brackets," Lawrence told his weekly news conference.

He said putting the exemption back at 50 cents, would cost the commonwealth 14 million dollars a biennium in lost revenue.

However, he said the lost revenue could be made up by "any number of bills" now before the House.

"If the Legislature passes the rest of my tax program, we'll be all right," he added.

The governor said extension of the tax down to meals costing more than 10 cents was "one part of (the tax) program I was not too enthusiastic about."

"I think if we pass the rest of the program we can make it up," he added.

The existing 10-cent exemption on restaurant meals became effective April 15 under the new 163-million-dollar sales tax law.

"The present law has been found to be a nuisance," said Ways and Means Chairman Robert Wheeler Jr. (D—Fayette). "There were objections that school children are being taxed when they buy a sundae or some small purchase like that."

Wheeler disclosed that the committee decided Monday night to close a loophole in the sales tax law dealing with drive-in restaurants. Some drive-ins have not been collecting the tax on the "claim" that their service involved take-out food. Under an amendment, these meals would be considered taxable.

The surprise committee action in cutting revenue was reportedly done on the basis of beating Senate Republicans to the punch on similar legislation. The committee is controlled by Democrats.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, House Republican floor leader, called a party caucus for late in the day to lay down policy on a Democratic plan to push for a vote Wednesday on extending the sales tax to beer and liquor.

Lawrence gave a special 1,000-word message to the Legislature Monday night. He said the state would start losing $318,000 a day in potential tax revenue starting June 1 if there is no action on the fiscal problem.

Other legislative developments: Horse racing—The House Monday night defeated, 68-120, a move to hold a referendum in the 1961 primary election on the question of legalizing parimutuel betting on horse races in Pennsylvania.

Migrant labor—The GOP-controlled Senate defeated a Democratic motion to return to committee for public hearings legislation transferring migrant labor problems from the Labor and Industry Department to the Agriculture Department.

Real estate transfer tax—A House-Senate conference committee reached a compromise on a plan to exempt houses traded for new dwellings from the 1 per cent real estate transfer tax.

The compromise came on the issue of just what is a new dwelling. As now rewritten, new dwellings would be defined as only those never occupied.

Congressional Election Being Held in New York

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Voters in New York's 43rd congressional district choose a successor to the late Rep. Daniel A. Reed today in the first special congressional election in the nation since the Democratic sweep of last November.

The district, in western New York, has never elected a Democrat.

Reed, a veteran of 40 years in Congress at his death last February, generally won by margins of 2-1.

Charles E. Goodell, 33, a Jamestown lawyer, is the Republican candidate. He is opposed by Democrat Robert E. McCaffery, 38, a dairy farmer from South Vandalia and John R. Steinbruner, 41, a Railway Express Co. employee running on the Liberal party ticket.

Faubus Meets Major Defeat In Recall Vote

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus met a major defeat Monday in Little Rock's integration feud with the recall of three segregationists from the school board.

Faubus had put himself squarely behind the segregationists in the recall election which sprang from an uprising of a group of citizens over the firing of 44 teachers.

All three of them were defeated, including the board's president Ed I. McKinley who was ousted by a vote of 13,347 to 11,855.

At the same time the three moderates, who said they prefer some integration to no schools, won a vote of confidence by retaining their seats.

It is now up to the Pulaski County Board of Education to fill the vacancies. The board's five members, all political unknowns here, have kept their own counsel as to their plans.

Faubus twice went on television in the closing days of the bitter campaign to plead for retention of the segregationists. He called the controversy over firing of the teachers a smokescreen for integration.

The governor urged the ouster of the three moderate members. Their supporters had started the recall movement. The moderates walked out of a board meeting May 5 when the segregationists began their teacher purge.

Two days later a group of business and professional men organized a movement to stop the teacher purge. They pledged themselves to recall the three segregationists.

Today Robert W. Laster, Little Rock traffic judge and the worst-beaten of the segregationists said: "Well it looks like the people want integrated schools, doesn't it?"

The other two segregationists, McKinley and Ben Rowland, were silent. So was Faubus who was reported to be at Stuttgart, Ark.

52-Year-Old Man Held In Slaying of Girl

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—An investigation of alleged morals offenses against three girls has led to the arrest of a 52-year-old man in the sex-slaying of a 15-year-old girl.

Dist. Atty. Richard E. McCormick of Westmoreland County announced at a news conference Monday that William R. Graham of Shafter in North Huntingdon Twp. admitted the assault and slaying of Marcia Cordon of Shawtown last Jan. 27.

Charged with murder, Graham was lodged in the county jail pending a hearing Thursday before Justice of the Peace Wayne Gongaware in North Huntingdon Twp.

Lawmakers Are Asked For Payroll Information

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Society of Newspaper Editors has asked the House and Senate to make public their payrolls and office expenses.

The request, in petitions filed with both houses of Congress last Friday, was announced Monday. ASNE President J. R. Wiggins, who also is vice president and executive editor of the Washington Post, signed the petitions.

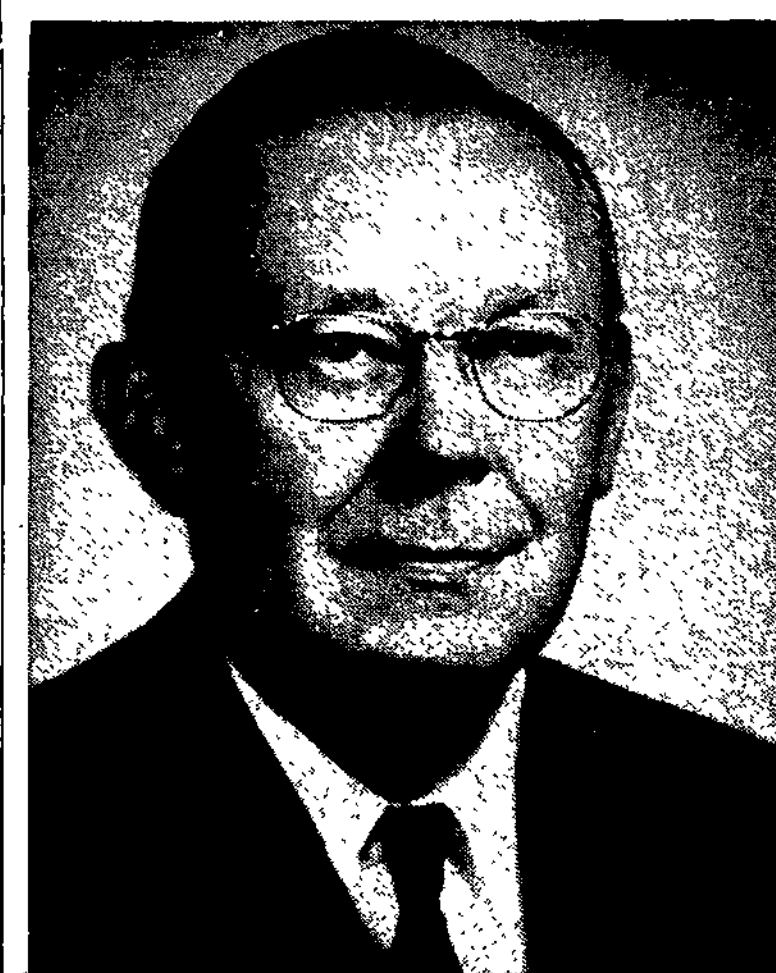

At present, senators may make their office payrolls public if they wish, but they don't have to. The House releases payroll figures, but ASNE said some information on other expenses is withheld.

Hon. Allen M. Gibson Dies In Capital While Attending Session of the Legislature

—Stokes Studio

REP. ALLEN M. GIBSON

Friends, fellow-Republicans and opposition Democrats joined today in expressions of sympathy to the wife and family of Allen M. Gibson, 203 Fourth avenue, who had represented Warren county in the House of Representatives in Harrisburg since 1944 and died in that city Monday night after he became ill at a legislative session.

In a telephone conversation with the Times-Mirror at 8:30 a. m. today, State Senator L. E. Chapman stated he had seen Mr. Gibson twice during the day on Monday and learned that his condition was not good.

Dr. Chapman was in the dining room of the Penn-Harris Hotel last evening when he was summoned to Mr. Gibson's room and found he had suffered a severe heart attack. A specialist was sent for, but the Warren man died some 10 or 15 minutes following his arrival. Mrs. Gibson was en route to Harrisburg last night and received the news of his death at State College.

Mr. Gibson had returned to the state capital only Sunday, traveling with Representative Ford E. O'Dell of Harborside. Earlier, he had been hospitalized in Philadelphia, coming home about three weeks ago and ordered by his physician to "go to bed for a complete rest."

Allen Moore Gibson was born in Kane in 1898, the son of Harry Allen and Lena Wilson Gibson, but moved at an early age to Sheffield, where his father was for many years superintendent of the Tionesta Valley Railroad, president of the Home Telephone Company, and, later, was associated with his son in the oil producing business.

After graduating from Sheffield High School, young Allen attended Pennsylvania State (Turn to Page Fourteen)

Presently holding the post of House assistant Republican floor leader, Mr. Gibson had represented Warren county in the House since 1944 and was one of the most popular lawmakers in Harrisburg.

Rep. Gibson became ill shortly after the House convened and returned to his Penn-Harris Hotel room, accompanied by friends, according to early news dispatches received by the Times-Mirror from the capital.

Masked Bandits Hold Up Forest Hills Bank

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two masked bandits escaped with an estimated $20,000 to $25,000 Monday in an armed holdup at the Western Pennsylvania National Bank in the Forest Hills shopping center.

The pair, armed with shotguns and masked with blue bandanna handkerchiefs, herded the manager and four bank employees into an adjoining lounge.

A customer who came in while the robbery was taking place also was forced at gunpoint into the lounge.

The council estimated more than 40 million automobiles will be on the streets and roads.

The holiday period covered by the calculations will begin at 6 p. m. (local time) Friday, May 29 and will end at midnight Sunday, May 31.

If the toll reaches 260, it will be a new record by a wide margin for a two-day observance of the Memorial Day holiday. The record is 241, set in 1953.

During last year's three-day observance 371 motor vehicle fatalities were reported.

But the council said the count can be held down if motorists use a "sure-fire formula for minimizing holiday traffic trouble."

The formula:

1. Hold your speed to 60 or below on the open road and obey posted speed limits.

2. Put the time of your arrival at your destination last in importance, and your safe arrival first.

3. Stay away from the wheel if you've been drinking.

DULLES BODY REMOVED TO CATHEDRAL

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles begins his last trip today.

His body, in its heavy casket, was to be carried from his home by six armed forces bearers, and taken in a hearse to the Washington National Cathedral.

Many officials of the diplomatic world in which Dulles traveled so extensively arranged to meet the procession at the cathedral.

Dulles' body will lie in state there for 24 hours, with an armed services honor guard in attendance. Funeral services will be held Wednesday and a procession will follow to Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac in Virginia.

High political leaders of the world began to gather for the final tribute to the man who was secretary of state for six years.

The Soviet Union's Andrei Gromyko, one of Dulles' chief adversaries in the cold war, announced plans to fly to Washington today for the funeral.

He arranged to leave the foreign ministers' conference in Geneva at the same time as Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. Gromyko will travel in a separate plane.

West Germany's 83-year-old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was to fly here today, a rare gesture of respect to a man of another country who held a lesser office.

A great outpouring of words, praise and condolences came from almost every quarter of the world, even from the citadel of communism, Moscow.

Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said "Dulles was a very great statesman. He was very intelligent. He was a strong partisan advocate. We like strong men. We do not like uncertain ones."

"I am very sorry that he is dead. Not only I, but the whole Soviet government are sorry."

President Eisenhower will attend the cathedral services at 2 p. m. Wednesday, and also the burial at Arlington. Full military honors, with a 19-gun salute, will be rendered.

Carpenters Back On Their Jobs at Missile Test Base

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Union carpenters removed picket lines today and 1,650 building tradesmen returned to their jobs at the missile test center and nearby Patrick Air Force Base.

Several million dollars worth of construction was halted by the 10-day strike of 115 carpenters, who came to terms Monday night with their employers, the Associated General Contractors. Other union men had observed picket lines.

Missile launches were not affected by the work stoppage which came May 15 when an old contract expired.

At one time about 5,000 men were off their jobs.

It was learned the carpenters and the contractors agreed to a 40-cent pay package in a two-year contract. The carpenters, who average $2.85 an hour, wanted a retroactive 25-cent raise in a one-year contract.

The contractors at one time offered a 35-cent raise, not retroactive, in a two-year pact.

Hoffa and Reuther Seem To Be at Verbal Swords Points

DETROIT (AP)—James R. Hoffa and Walter P. Reuther are at verbal swords points.

Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, said in Boston Monday that Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, has "no brains, no guts." He asserted that Reuther "hid out" from Detroit picket line battles in the 1930s.

Reuther, in Detroit, was silent. An official UAW spokesman said Reuther would not dignify what he called Hoffa's "absurd allegations" with a reply.

However, the union spokesman, Frank Winn, director of UAW public relations, went on to carry the lance for his boss against the Teamsters' chieftain.

In recent years the two Detroit presidents of the powerful labor unions have made it clear there was little love lost between them.

Hoffa made his remarks to labor reporter Dick Lamore of the Boston Traveler.

Asked his reaction to Reuther's recent statement that Hoffa thinks "with his muscles," the Teamsters leader said: "Walter Reuther had no brains, no guts and hid out in an office during the picket line battles in Detroit in the 30s."

"Then he capitalized on the sweat and blood of the pickets who did the job in setting up the CIO union."

Winn, replying on his own, (Turn to Page Fourteen)

County Civil Defense and New Dial Telephone System

Prepared by the Publicity Department of Warren County Civil Defense

In preparation for the opening of the new dial telephone system Warren County Civil Defense has received its new organization chart from Bell. The new dial numbers are printed below the names of all CD directors and assistants for use in emergency.

Some new names are on the chart, which is headed by W. C. Fuellhart, the director, and his deputies James Frantz, Sandy Secor and James Wright. In the very technical Radiological Division the job of keeping the sensitive Geiger counters and survey instruments in workable condition has been accepted by Leon Laskaris.

This division has taught nearly 300 Warren county residents the facts about fallout. There are meter teams in every point in the county, except Grand Valley and Corydon. Radiological on the CD chart lists

In other parts of the county a responsible law officer has given the Auxiliary Police good leadership and training. Civil Defense has graduated 428 men in this work.

Communications is a vital division charged with informing through telephone, CD radio and Ham radio. It is of interest to note that Warren County Civil Defense paid half of the $100,000 worth of equipment in the fire radios. It maintains the base station at the Central Fire Station. Henry Walker leads Communications, assisted by Robert Anstadt of Bell Telephone, Mrs. W. C. Fuellhart and Richard Gilson.

Another essential group is the Transportation Division, led by Clifford Johnson. With the efficient help of Carl Elmquist, R. W. Holder and J. S. Johnson, this division takes care of moving workers, evacuees, and equipment.

All fire departments, borough and volunteer, would go under Civil Defense in a declared emergency. The Fire Division is led by Merle See, assisted by Scott Stuart Jr. and Leonard Falbriski.

Among the newer divisions is Industrial, which is trying to determine the flow of traffic from Warren plants, to avoid congestion in an emergency. Under Howard Laufenburger, this division is also working out methods of plant protection for those who must stay and close down a factory. Estimates range from 5 to 24 hours for the shut down of industries without running costly equipment.

William J. Loucks has accepted a post on the Standard Radio Division of Civil Defense, serving under Leroy Schneek and Homer Haines. It was Loucks who secured TV time for Warren during the recent flood practice alert and the national alert, with an audio broadcast and a video bulletin.

The new organization chart shows Guy McKinley assisting Harry E. Cooper, director of the Utilities Division. D. E. Troxell and R. A. Harvey continue in this division, which must be informed on electricity, gas and water in the borough and county. These men would determine what utilities would be available in an emergency, and whether rationing might be needed. The purity of drinking water would be under their scrutiny.

In the rural districts the Sanitation Division would determine whether the water would be potable. Sam Gerardi is director, assisted by Eugene Manfre.

Among the most popular Civil Defense divisions is Flood Protection, for the sandbags furnished by this group have held back the old Allegheny from many a doorstep. Kenneth B. Graham is the director, and his assistants are Albert J. Loranger and C. L. Thompson.

The Flood Protection Division badly needs a list of men who would be on call to help turn off furnaces or move equipment from cellars. Volunteers for such a call list are urged to register by telephoning CD headquarters at 14. In the January '59 flood enough warning was received in the flood areas so that neighbors and friends helped, but volunteers are needed.

Property and Supply is a new division, with Anthony N. Valone the acting coordinator. This will deal with an inventory of all Civil Defense equipment from radios to the Medical and Radiological instruments. It will work with all the other divisions.

Well Known North Warren Man Acquires Nursing Home

Ownership of the Keystone Nursing Home, 1109 Pennsylvania Avenue, East, will pass from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shreck to Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bogart, effective June 1.

The nursing home was established in November, 1947, and its many patients have been cared for under direct supervision of Mrs. Shreck, who is a registered nurse. Mr. and Mrs. Shreck, who have made operating the nursing home, say they have no definite plans for a multitude of friends while they were there.

Mr. Bogart, also a registered nurse, started work at Warren State Hospital in 1930, and was graduated in 1933. In December of 1941 he left the hospital to open a service station in North Warren but in the following June he was on the "Queen Mary" with the famous 1st Infantry Division en route to Europe.

From England, the 1st Division went to North Africa to participate in the invasion in November, 1942. After the Tunisia invasion came the invasion of Sicily, then back to England for winter maneuvers. On June 6, 1942, Mr. Bogart was with the First when it hit Bloody Omaha Beach. Then into Central France after which the First took its first city in Germany, Aachen. Pulling back for its first rest after 144 days of combat, the Division next morning found itself facing the big German breakthrough in the Ardennes forest and went back into combat. The Division crossed the Siegfried line for the second time, crossed Remagen bridge and on into Germany. When the war ended, Mr. Bogart was in Czechoslovakia after eight campaigns. He returned to employment at Warren State Hospital on Dec. 16, 1947, and is supervisor at the new Admission Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Bogart (the former Jessie Andrews) reside at 6 Fourth Avenue. They have one son, Brad, 8 years old.

1958 Assessments Adopted As Tax Base This Year

At an adjourned meeting last evening, Warren Borough School Board was forced by existing school laws to use the 1958 assessments as a tax base. Millage was set at 29.5 mills.

Section 677 of Pennsylvania School Code requires local Boards to set millage on the last adjusted valuation of property. While the estimated 1959 valuation is available, it cannot, it E.T.A. mLAN x4 1/4 not be used as it has not been adjusted. Adjustment consists of notifying property owners and giving them time to appeal.

Borough board members were caught between this law and another requiring taxes to be levied by the last of May. Only possibility left for the Board was to use 1958 assessed valuations as it is the last adjusted valuation available. "They were reluctant to take this action but had no other possible choice," a member stated.

Levy of 29.5 mills is an increase of 4.5 mills over 1958. Also levied were a 35 head tax on all residents over 21 years of age as in previous years.

Strike Settled And Pittsburgh Papers Publish

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh's three daily newspapers were publishing again today following settlement of a brief strike by truck drivers.

The settlement was announced Monday by Federal Conciliator George Woomer following a one-hour meeting with the publishers of the Post-Gazette, Sun-Telegraph and Press and representatives of Local 211, Newspaper, Magazine and Film Delivery Drivers, Helpers and Handlers.

The Sun-Telegraph and the Press were on the streets a short while later with late afternoon editions. A few hours later, the Post-Gazette was out with its first morning edition.

The principal issue in the strike was a dispute between the union and the Sun-Telegraph over a pension fund and the employment of a union steward. The truck drivers, whose old contract expired April 1, also had rejected a 10-cent-an-hour wage package. Their basic hourly wage rate under the old pact was $2.66 2/3.

Local 211 President Theodore Cozza said "we have come to an understanding in our dispute and we will resume negotiations next week."

1958 Assessments Adopted As Tax Base This Year

At an adjourned meeting last evening, Warren Borough School Board was forced by existing school laws to use the 1958 assessments as a tax base. Millage was set at 29.5 mills.

Section 677 of Pennsylvania School Code requires local Boards to set millage on the last adjusted valuation of property. While the estimated 1959 valuation is available, it cannot, it E.T.A. mLAN x4 1/4 not be used as it has not been adjusted. Adjustment consists of notifying property owners and giving them time to appeal.

Borough board members were caught between this law and another requiring taxes to be levied by the last of May. Only possibility left for the Board was to use 1958 assessed valuations as it is the last adjusted valuation available. "They were reluctant to take this action but had no other possible choice," a member stated.

Levy of 29.5 mills is an increase of 4.5 mills over 1958. Also levied were a 35 head tax on all residents over 21 years of age as in previous years.

Mine Disaster Rescuers Cited For Hero Medals

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Some 379 miners, mine officials, doctors and other persons involved in rescue work in the Oct. 23, 1953, mine disaster at Springhill, Nova Scotia, have been cited for heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The rescuers were singled out Monday for a special gold medal citation. The mass award was only the second such award in the commission's 55-year history.

The other mass award was to the heroes of the liner Titanic sinking in 1912.

This latest special award cited "officials and workmen of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., Ltd., and local doctors who risked their lives," working eight days to rescue the men trapped by an earth movement deep underground at the mine. Seventy-four were brought up from the mine dead, one man died later and 99 men were saved.

The Titanic medal is similarly mounted and exhibited in the U. S. National Museum in Washington. This medal recognizes "the sublime self-sacrifice displayed by passengers, officers and crew."

The commission was established by the late steel tycoon Andrew Carnegie in 1904 with a gift of U. S. Steel Corp. bonds then valued at five million dollars.

Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—Why is it so many people are attacking the suburbs these days?

I have the impression that every time a novelist, social critic, bearded lecturer, campus rebel or tweedy philosopher tries to explain what's wrong with America he finds that individualism is dying and conformity is in the saddle, and it's all the fault of the suburbs.

What a federal case they've made out against us! And all because we wanted a piece of lawn that didn't belong to a city park and a small view of the sky not hazy with smog.

The latest attack comes from Dr. I. I. Rabi, eminent Columbia University physicist. Scientists, he says, should be "odd balls" and "curious types." When a scientist goes suburban, Rabi says, he becomes a victim of a commuting schedule, has to leave the lab at a fixed time, rushes home to fix his leaky cesspool and that night his conversation concerns only cesspools.

Dr. Rabi misses a profound point. The suburbanite could, if he dared, get home later. But what makes him scurry home is fear—fear of his wife, whether she's an apartment wife or a house wife. He's afraid to miss dinner.

Dinner, as every male mouse knows, is based on a complicated mechanism and precise timing and painful planning, like a three-stage rocket or Bach fugue, and it won't keep, and if the children eat without father they will develop psychic trauma, and if they wait late to eat a soggy, semi-poisonous dinner with father they'll miss piano practice or do their home work poorly or miss the school dance, and how are we ever going to catch the Russians with a nation of underfed emotional misfits?

Dinner, not the suburb, is the villain, and men scamper home for it in the cities as well as the suburbs. Dinner is the emotional core of a woman's life. Missing it is the ultimate hurt.

I even suspect that many marriages wrecked by infidelity would still be intact if only the faithless one managed to get home in time for dinner.

But to the larger point. There is just as much conformity and mass thinking and colorless talk in the cities as in the suburbs.

A hi-fi bore is just as dull and imitative in an apartment as in a house, except in an apartment there's always the hope that the man downstairs will rap on the steam pipe.

I have seen as many city women blossom out simultaneously in treader pants and as many city living rooms cluttered up with cheap mobiles and Japanese prints as plague the decor in the suburbs.

At an avant garde art gallery or precious off-Broadway play, I have seen as many slavish crowds worshipping what is new and different and therefore tasteful as I've seen in a suburban hardware store. I've heard as little independent thinking in the city as in a suburban town meeting or PTA session.

I have sat in city apartments with men of learning, of science and medicine, and heard the wives complain about the diaper service and the men complain about the taxes and how they wish they had more time to "keep up with the literature," which means the stock market pages.

Bohemians can get lost easier in a big city. But we suburbanites have our eccentricities and beatniks and bums and frustrated artists and rummies and neurotics and I just don't see where we have anything to be ashamed of compared to city people.

Members of This Year's Honor Patrol

Seventeen members of the School Safety Patrol who guard their schoolmates on busy intersections were honored with gold badges on Saturday morning by Neil Culbertson, acting president of the AAA, who praised the youngsters for their good work.

The badges are awarded to outstanding members of the patrol for setting a good example, giving correct signals to schoolmates, courtesy, reporting for duty on time, and being neat and clean, dependable and trustworthy on duty.

All members of the school patrol will receive certificates for their participation during the past year.

The Patrolers, all of whom take their job seriously, meet at least once every six weeks, for a briefing by Patrolman Bernard Winegardner, who has been appointed by Chief of Police Mike Ewan, as advisor to the group. Patrolman Winegardner answers questions, shows safety films, and helps with traffic problems. The School Safety Patrol has been under police supervision for six years, working in close cooperation with the Warren County Motor Club.

Patent Application Made On "Buttonless" Hearing Aid

J. W. Planck

Peoria, Illinois (Special) Patent application has just been made on a new type transistor hearing aid that has no cord or receiver "button", according to Mr. J. W. Planck, well known electronic engineer of Peoria, Illinois. The instrument consists of just one tiny hearing unit weighing less than 1/2 ounce, worn on either ear and by either men or women. The unique instrument is said to permit normal use of the telephone and completely eliminates clothing noise.

This remarkable invention is the result of many years of research working with hard-of-hearing men and women. Persons desiring descriptive literature either for themselves or for friends on this new invention may obtain it by writing to Mr. J. W. Planck, 128 South Monroe, Peoria, Illinois. No charge is made.

ALLEN MOORE GIBSON

It has been said that a man who effectively combines public and political service and blends it with his own career for the common good is a fine citizen. Such a man was Allen Moore Gibson, representative in the Assembly from Warren county since 1944.

Born in Kane, September 25, 1898, and raised in Sheffield, where he attended the public schools, Mr. Gibson had excellent training and background for the important public offices he had held, as school director, County Treasurer and Assemblyman for fifteen years. After his High School days he attended Pennsylvania State College and later the University of Pittsburgh. His practical training included employment both in the Texas oil fields, and the Tionesta Valley Railroad where his father had been superintendent for three decades. He later became secretary and manager of the Home Telephone Company at Sheffield, and had been engaged in the oil producing business. Prior to being elected Treasurer of Warren county, he had served long and faithfully as school director and secretary of the board of Education in Sheffield township.

Politically Mr. Gibson had for a quarter of a century been a guiding inspiration to the Warren County Republican Committee, becoming chairman of the organization upon the retirement of the late Jesse G. Smith some years ago. His ability in the political field was early recognized at Harrisburg where he has been for many years, Assistant Floor Leader in the House. His unexpected passing at this time creates a vacancy in County Committee as well as in the House that will be difficult to fill.

The career of Allen Gibson typifies that of public spirited men who are willing to give generously of their abilities to civic affairs while at the same time recording progress and achievement in their business life. It would be difficult, in this brief space, to list all contributions Mr. Gibson has made for the betterment of his community and state, such as the Red Cross, Civil Defense, Community Chest and other activities that are fostered and administered by volunteers such as the assemblyman for the betterment of all.

Sheffield, Warren, the county and the entire state will long remember his role as a good citizen.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wednesday, May 27, had been an important day on the calendar of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He never dreamed how truly important it would be in a more personal sense.

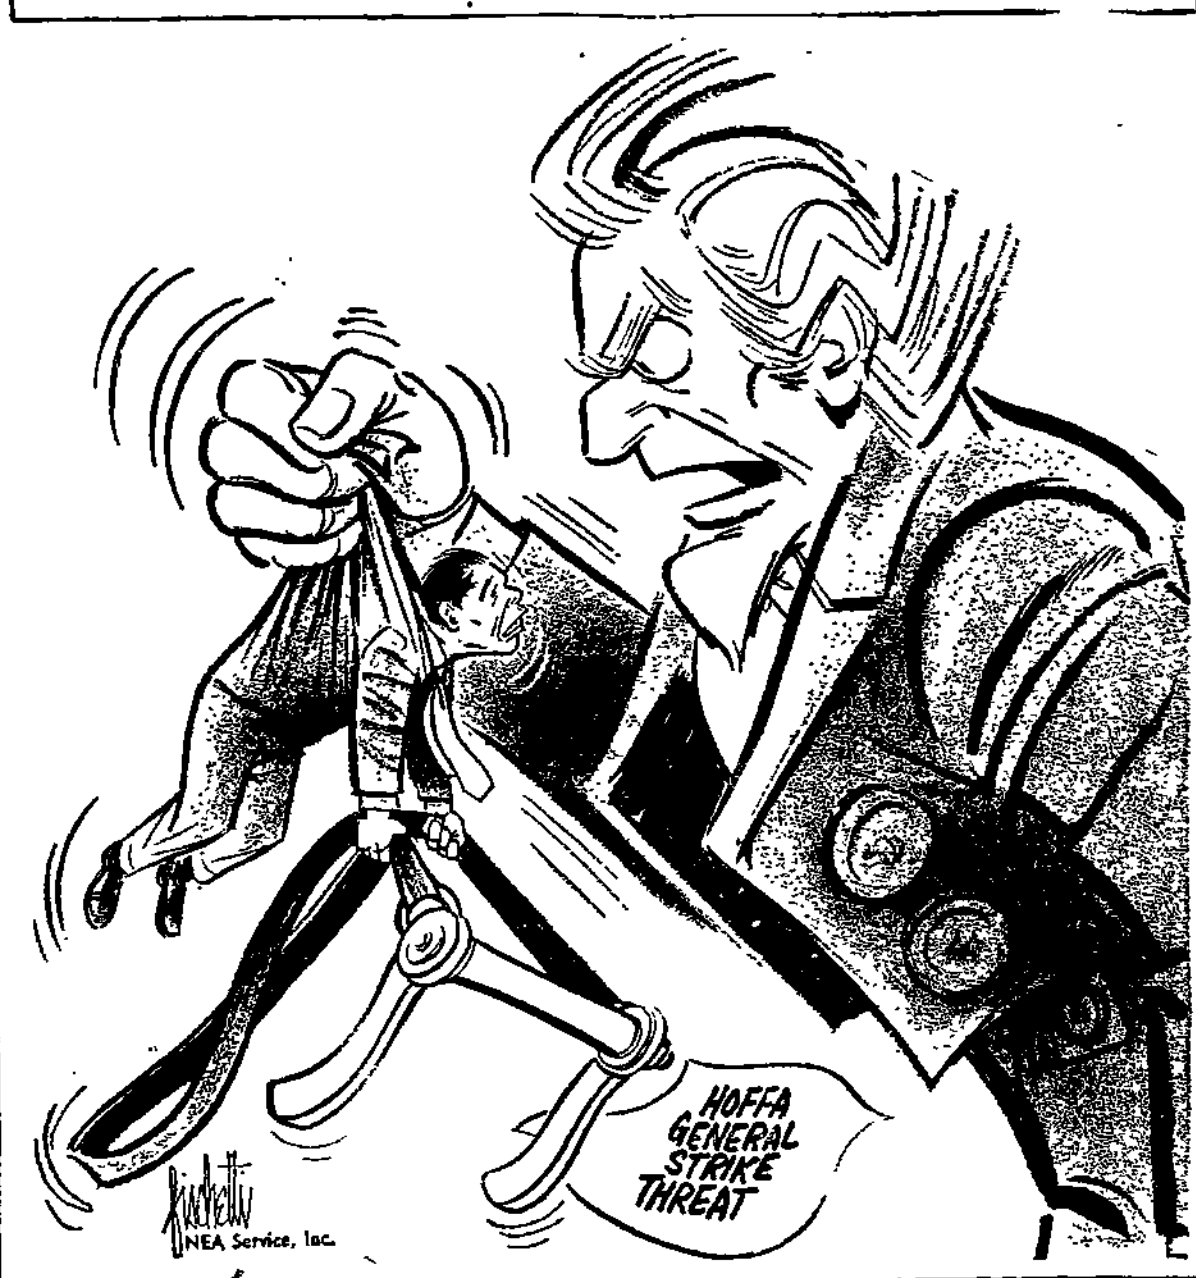

It was to have been the cold war's day of crisis and showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin. But there is no crisis.

Instead, it will be the day of Dulles' funeral with his old-time antagonist and opposite number, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, flying the ocean to pay his last respects to him.

Last Nov. 27 Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave the Western Bloc "Three — the United States, Britain and France — six months to get their troops out of West Berlin or face a showdown. That placed the six months' deadline at May 27.

It meant a new crisis, but only the latest of many, for Dulles who was still the busy, bustling and seemingly indestructible secretary of state. He had no reason then to suspect May 27 would be his own personal deadline.

Here and There

It was fifty years ago today that the "Warren Evening Times" announced in a first page story "School Days Nearly Over!" Subheads to the story contained this information—"Faculty Meeting Revealed Names of the 1909 Graduating Class of High School; Class Is a Large One; Notable Feature of the Class is the Large Number of Young Men—Other School Notes!" The story follows: "A meeting of the High School Faculty was held last evening when the names of those who will graduate from Warren High School for 1909 was announced. The class, this year, is a large one, and one notable feature of it is the large number of boys encompassed in the class roll. The names of those who will receive the sheepskins are as follows: William G. Alexander, Arthur F. Bruck, Carl Bartsch, John A. Buck, Jr., Winifred D. Bennett, Ralph C. Cook, Josephine Colegrove, Helen Cochran, Dorothy Cowan, May Connolly, Margaret L. Davis, Flossie Gns-wold, Freeman Gisselbrecht, Mae E. Hagberg, Isabella Hubbard, George B. Hultberg, Helen Jackson, Margaret Kinnear, Clara Leonhart, Junius McKelvey, Harold M. Morehouse, Fay M. Morrison, Sara M. Mooney, Robert W. Mackay, Samuel P. Ostergard, Genevieve Randall, Braddock Schofield, Mause Shutt, Rose A. Wetmore, Mary Weed, Annie Wood, Mebel Weakley, Bernice Woodard, Harry J. Witz, Robert R. Young. The graduating exercises will be held as usual, in the Library Theatre, June 2, at 8:15 o'clock, and the program arranged promises to be a very interesting one. Tickets for the Commencement will be on sale at the City Drug Store Saturday morning, May 29th. The annual exhibit of the Manual Training Department will be held in the gymnasium of the High School Monday between the hours of two and four. Entrance may be gained to the exhibit either through the front or rear of the building.

News of a building operation underway back in 1909 was carried in the "Times Topics" column as follows: "From all indications the foundation put in place by the Warren Trust Company at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Liberty street will be occupied by a handsome store and office building. The officials of the Trust Company have almost made up their minds to continue the project and erect the structure as at first planned and definite action will be taken some day next week when a meeting will be held for the purpose of reaching a decision. It is to be hoped that the building will be erected as the need for store rooms in Warren is a pressing one."

"Another evidence of increasing prosperity is given at the Steber Cigar Factory where a number of men have been put to work the past few days. Forty-five men are now employed and there is room for two, or three more!" x x x "A new express car for the Sheffield trolley line is being built at the street car barns. It is a double truck car, 35 feet long, and is being constructed by Charles Hamm. The business on the Sheffield trolley line is increasing rapidly and better facilities are demanded. The new car will be ready for use in about two weeks."

x x x "The park committee has distributed benches in the South Side park, and the sunshine is calling out a number of people who delight in spending part of their time in that beauty spot. It is to be regretted that the funds of the park committee do not allow of other improvements, as the possibilities of the South Side Park are great."

x x x "At the regular meeting of the B. P. O. Elks held last evening in their quarters in the Crandall building, the matter of a new home for the order was taken up and discussed. It is safe to say that the M. Mead property at the corner of Fourth and Hickory streets will be secured by the order for their new home. The property is one of the handsomest in the city, being slightly and centrally located. It is anticipated that an imposing building will be erected on the lot."

x x x "The contract for the new Scofield building in Liberty street has been let to Offerle and Smith, and they will soon begin operations. The building will be erected in the vacant spot next to the Wendleboe building, and will be two stories high, containing space for stores and offices. The improvement will add considerably to the appearance of the street."

x x x "The street market this morning showed the signs of springtime perceptibly, as the display showed the first of spring temptingly arrayed."

A good man always triumphs over a faulty prop or lingering camera, however.

Art Carney refused to be frustrated on a Jackie Gleason Show when the door to the Gleason apartment wouldn't open. With aplomb, he stepped through a glassless window.

And Jack Lescaultie has stopped blushing over the time on the "Today" show when he thought he was off camera at the end of a men's undershirt commercial.

The home audience was tickled to observe him tickling the male torso dummy in the ribs with a "kitchy-kitchy-ko."

On the other hand, no one can remember the name of the actor in an early TV drama who forgot his lines while playing a scene in airplane in flight. He disappeared off camera, muttering, "I think I'll get off here."

In bygone days many a corpse has risen and coolly walked away, believing he was off camera.

Whatever happens, the show must go on. Remember those live commercials which showed the hands of two models whose faces you never saw? One night one of the models started to faint in the middle of a commercial. What you never saw was the fact that two prop men rushed to her and held her up until the commercial was finished.

That's television.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

(© 1958: By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

DON'T KNOCK YOURSELF OUT CLEANING UP
Spring means gardening and housecleaning; let's do it without grief. The sedentary worker particularly needs this advice. Those who spend most of their time behind a counter, at a desk, or in a car should not attempt to crowd four months of physical activity into the first warm spring day.

Begin the chore by getting the tools in shape. Check the handles of the rake and shovel to see that they are strong and free of splinters. Look over the power lawn mower and inspect the blades. Don't use it until you have raked the lawn and removed all stones and loose objects.

Medical journals carry many case histories of ghastly accidents. In some, the blade was broken by a stone and gouged the user or a nearby child. In other instances, a rock—hit by the blade—shot off into space like a golf ball.

Test the ladder before climbing it. Don't go above the first floor without asking someone to hold the ladder in place. When you get to the top, don't request the holder to leave and get you some tool you forgot.

It is almost impossible to survive the first day of work without a few sore muscles and stiff joints. Wear gloves and wash every cut or blister with soap and warm water as soon as possible. Then cover the lesion with a sterile bandage.

Spare the back by squatting to pick up heavy objects, sod and baskets filled with dirt. Bending over is wonderful exercise for those who wish to take off a few inches from the waistline but it is silly to do so when lifting heavy objects.

A backache may prove to be more serious than appears on the surface for those who have reactivated an old arthritis or slipped a disk.

By the way—don't burn the accumulated twigs, leaves, and other rubbish too close to the fence or garage. For the wise, this is a good time to clean out fire hazards from storage spaces. Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical subjects if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

NUTRITIONAL EDEMA
G. T. writes: Can losing weight cause dropsy?
Reply
Not reasonable weight loss. Dropsy may occur after a long period of starvation due chiefly to lack of protein.

AVOIDING COLDS
T. W. writes: How did you say a person can keep from catching cold?
Reply
Those who are highly susceptible may never be able to solve the problem except by living on a desert island. Colds are contagious and most of us can keep them at a minimum by avoiding infected persons and crowds when respiratory diseases are rife. Follow the rules of health to the letter, particularly on sleep. Many individuals avoid colds unless they become overfatigued.

GULPING AND HEARTBURN
J. H. writes: My husband has eaten rapidly for years, and at 43 has heartburn continuously. Could this be from gulping his food?
Reply
Yes, but there are other causes of heartburn varying from tension to peptic ulcer.

SLEEPING POSTURE
M. E. writes: Does it harm the heart to sleep on the left side?
Reply
No. Victims of dropsy find sleeping on the right side more comfortable but this does not mean it is harmful to sleep on either side, the abdomen, or the back.

BATHING
Mrs. J. writes: Do most physicians agree it is not harmful to take a tub bath fully submerged—during the period?
Reply
Yes, although many physicians think a shower is better.

The Mature Parent

Sometimes We Can Show Too Much Understanding

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

As Will and his new friend left the kitchen, Will's mother said, "Mind the traffic light at the boulevard crossing, dear."

Seconds later she heard the front door slam—but not before she heard her son say in a mimicking, falsetto voice, "Don't get killed, sweetie pie." A burst of giggles followed.

Resuming her ironing, she began at once to try to "understand" this ridicule of her protective reminder.

She managed the understanding, too. Will's new friend was in the fifth grade. As a fourth grader, Will himself was afraid he couldn't measure up to the older boy's expectations and so used ridicule to dispose of his mother's suggestion that he couldn't take care of himself.

This understanding made her anger seem foolish. So when Will came home she tried to treat him as though she didn't feel it. She didn't succeed. Her anger flashed out in several critical comments on Will's new friend. In the end she said with unconscious malice, "Why would a big boy like that want to go around with a younger one like you?"

It would have been better, I think, to say, "No, I won't tell you what we're having for dessert. I'm angry at you. I'm angry because you made fun of me in front of your friend. When I'm over it, I'll let you know."

She couldn't say this. Like thousands of other modern parents, she is so afraid of appearing to "reject" Will that she's got used to rejecting herself instead. She's been made so frightened of the psychological damage wrought on children by parental anger that she can't feel anger. And so uses her brain's "understanding" of Will to deny what she is as a feeling, vulnerable human being.

What we American parents again need most is the right to feel what we feel.

Because we're all so scared to claim that right, we intensify the young's adolescent conflicts. We've acquired such a reputation for "understanding" any hurt they inflict that they feel like stinkers for wanting to break away from us.

So youngsters revolt against "understanding" with the violence, born of guilt. They hate themselves for wanting to leave such all-tolerant, all-understanding people.

YOUTH AMBASSADOR SPEAKS AT LUDLOW

LUDLOW—Study Group closed its 1958-59 meetings with a "guest night" dinner served at the Benjamin Connelly home, with Mrs. Connelly and Mrs. Emil Nelson as co-hostesses, assisted by a Kane caterer. About 30 persons were in attendance.

Mrs. Lester McArthur, president, introduced the guest speaker, Robert Miley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Miley, of Sheffield, and 1958 Warren County Community ambassador, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

MRS. JOHN W. WITHINGTON

Elizabeth Lynette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Bathurst of 300 South State street, North Warren, became the bride of John W. Withington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey W. Withington, Youngsville, in a lovely spring wedding in First Presbyterian church May 23.

The Rev. Donald H. Spencer performed the double ring ceremony at 3:30 p. m. in a setting of tropical foliage, ferns, white snapdragons and peonies, with illumination from seven-branched candelabra. Carroll A. Fowler was at the organ; James E. Johnson sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Wearing ballerina length hand-clipped chantilly lace and carrying a cascade arrangement of pink Demure roses and Stephanotis atop a Bible, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The basque-bodice of her gown was accented with a scalloped portrait neckline, encrusted with iridescent and seed pearls, and finished with thimble sleeves; the bouffant skirt had double front and back panels of crystal pleated tulle. Her ballerina veil of imported silk illusion fell from a cloche of lace, jeweled with seed pearls.

Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Jamestown, N. Y., as matron of honor, wore blue embossed organza, ballerina length, with matching back sash and headpiece, and carried a sweetheart basket of pink Demure roses and ivy. Serving as flower girl for her niece, Claudia, wore white nylon over blue taffeta, with brief bertha-style collar. Its blue satin sash matched a bow-bandeau for her hair, and her flowers were the same as Mrs. Mitchell's, in miniature.

Roy Withington attended his brother as best man; ushers were Max Manwaring, Bear Lake, and the bride's cousin, David Bathurst of Warren.

Wearing pink orchid corsages, the bride's mother selected azure blue crepe and matching accessories; the bridegroom's mother wore white accents with navy blue. Mrs. Richard Gilson, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Letha Withington of Kane, grandmother of the bridegroom, were remembered with corsages of pink Chiffon roses.

Also given pink rosebud corsages were Mrs. John Shanshala, Georgianna Shea, Doris Stevenson, Mrs. O. Gilbert Johnson and Mrs. Robert Johnson, who served as aides for the reception in Dunham Parlor of First Methodist church.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Russell Van Atta, Emporium; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Withington, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kreckel, Barbara Kreckel, St. Marys; Mrs. Glenn Withington, Mrs. Letha Withington, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Larson, Kane; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Salvamoser, Walter Olson, Wilcox.

Mrs. Frank Thomas, Mt. Jewett; Mr. and Mrs. Axel Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hendrickson, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Susan Johnson, Youngsville; Mr. and Mrs. Glade G. Fuller, Conneautville, Pa.; Mrs. Leon Fitch, Mrs. Carlton Woodward, Jamestown, N. Y.

For a wedding trip to New York City, the bride chose a navy and white checked dress, navy coat, white accessories and a white spray of orchids. After June 10, the couple will reside in Cocoa Beach, Fla.

Graduate of Warren High School and WCA Hospital School of Nursing in Jamestown, the bride has been employed as office nurse for Dr. Homer H. Lewis, Jr. Mr. Withington, Youngsville High alumnus, was formerly employed as DHA supervisor for Warren county. Since serving four years in the Air Force, he has been employed by Pan-American World Airways as weather observer on the Atlantic Guided Missile Range.

Those entertaining for the bride-elect have been Mrs. Peter Ivory, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Eldon Hendrickson, Mrs. Lawrence Rinaldo, Helen Downey, Mrs. Ann McGary, Mrs. John Reddickoff and Mrs. A. F. Dunham. The rehearsal dinner was given by the bride's parents at the Penn-Laurel, where attendants were remembered with gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tabor, Cleveland Heights, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia, to David H. Lindberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Lindberg, 1410 Pennsylvania avenue, east. Both young couple will be graduated in June from Albion College, Albion, Mich., and an August wedding is planned.

Moriah Church Women Have Busy Gathering

Ludlow — Mrs. Eiland Olson was chairman when Moriah Church Women observed Family Week and Mother's Day recently. Others who participated in the program, "The Christian Woman and Her Home", written by Ruth Youngdahl Nelson, were Mrs. William Ralston, Mrs. Evert Johnson and Mrs. John Kulka, the latter giving devotions. Mrs. Emil Nelson sang "Bless This House", and Mrs. Enoch Nelson provided instrumental music on the organ and piano.

President Rose Nelson reported on her trip to Jersey City, N. J., where she attended New York Conference WMS, which completed 50 years in 1958 and now moves into the newly-erected Augustana Lutheran Church Women's group. Mrs. Carl Eliason, wife of the local pastor, was elected a vice president.

Mrs. William Hanson was given a rising vote for attractive corsages she made and presented to each woman present. Tillie Olson reported 62 persons signing as charter members Mrs. Leland Engman reported 346 pounds of clothing packed and sent to Lutheran World Relief; it was also reported a devotional book, God's Song In My Heart, based on the study of favorite hymns and written by Youth Youngdahl Nelson, has been placed in the library. The education chairman, Mrs. Enoch Nelson, reported several other books given and loaned for library use. She also urged all to attend the fourth annual seminar of ALCW, to be held at Lutheran Camp on Lake Chautauqua August 2-7.

The education committee also invited all interested to attend one of the meetings planned for reading by Ruth Juran Smith's "The Sound Goes Forth". All beginning at 8:30 p. m., these gatherings will be held June 8 with Mrs. Enoch Nelson; June 15, with Tillie Olson; June 22, with Mrs. Leland Engman; concluding with a picnic at The Pines, when it is hoped to have the Rev. Robert E. Olson speak of the proposed Lutheran church merger.

Hostesses, Mrs. Carl Eliason and Mrs. Leland Engman, served coffee to 42 persons from a table centered with spring flowers.

Here and There

(From Page Four) education of the academically talented is the attitude of the community. Too much emphasis on basketball, football, and marching bands may affect the decisions of the school board, the administrators, and the teachers; and, often equally important, community activities may take up too much of the students' time. In visiting a school even for so short a time in a day, one learns something about the community. I must admit that it was with considerable dismay that I observed the demands the communities often put upon high school youth for use of out-of-school hours. Talks with students were particularly revealing in this regard. I have been in some cities where boys and girls said that they were out of their homes after the evening dinner hour more often than they were in them. There was nothing wrong, perse, with what they were doing—club meetings, junior lodge meetings, dramatics and music rehearsals, community organizations. But their home study time was interfered with. In fact, teachers frequently said that they could not hold students to home study because of community demands on student time and that, therefore, standards in courses fell. Yet in many schools, the ambitious, bright students told me that they felt they should be doing fifteen hours of homework a week. Here it must be added that high schools themselves are sometimes offenders in this matter by not protecting the home study time of their students.

The Bib Turns Into a Collar

Summer jewelry takes on a fresh, satiny look with glowing color and glittering crystals. A collar is formed (left) from two necklaces of three strands each. They are done in marbled beads and crystals in a soft mauve pink. A new length (right), somewhere between a dog collar and a choker, is called high-rise. Here, it's done in perfectly fresh, perfectly white fake pearls. Both designs are from Marvella.—By GAIL DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

JAYCEE AUXILIARY

For their annual business meeting held in the YMCA social rooms, Jaycee Auxiliary members enjoyed a 6:30 turkey dinner. News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "You can't realize how much my life has changed. I used to be shy and afraid to talk to people. I'm so much happier now. A whole new world has opened up for me."
These words came from a man in love. If they sound somewhat daffy-like, it's only natural. The man is Ernest Borgnine. The love of his life is Mexican actress Katy Jurado.
"Katy and I will be married in September, just as soon as my divorce becomes final," he announced. "We'll have a civil ceremony here and a church wedding in Mexico." The latter is possible, he said, because her first marriage was to a divorced man and his was to a non-Catholic.
After the wedding, they'll make their home in Mexico and maintain an apartment in Hollywood for when they are making movies.
"We've got a lot in Cuernavaca and another in Acapulco, and we plan to build homes on both," he said. "I like living down there."

"The Mexican people have a way of life that is entirely different from ours. Here, we work like crazy, we fight the traffic on the freeway, we hurry home for that before-dinner Martini so we can calm our nerves."
"Life isn't that rushed in Mexico. The people there know how to relax and enjoy the pleasant things of living. I go down there tense and keyed up from working. Soon I learn to take it easy."
Whether Ernie will have time to enjoy the manana life is problematical. In the past few months, he has gone from making "The Rabbit Trap" in this country to "Summer of the 17th Doll" in Australia to "Man on a String" in Berlin.
"In West Berlin, the people would shout 'Marty! Marty!' and come up to greet me. In the Russian sector, they would merely glance at me with a little smile of recognition. It was frightening to see their fear."

Financing is fun and usually profitable but there are some finesses that can lose a trick but can't gain one. Obviously a finesse of this type should be shunned like the plague.
Hand No. 2 from the Intercollegiate tournament illustrates one of these.
South is in four spades and West opens the king of clubs. South takes either the first or second club. It is immaterial which one.

Now South must go after the trumps and here is one of those finessing situations where he must not finesse. No matter how the spades break South has to lose a spade trick and if he plays the queen and there is a singleton king anywhere South must lose two spade tricks.

Therefore, South's correct play is to lead a low spade. West plays his king and now South will have little difficulty with his spade game.

The simplest play is just to let West hold the spade trick but there are lots of complicated safety and pseudo-safety plays available; all of which work. The key play was the low spade to the ace instead of an honor.

James J. Brown, 17, a senior at Youngville High School, won first place in the Jaycee-sponsored Safe Driving Road-E-O held Saturday. Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman L. Brown, 220 West Main street.

Brown has completed his driver education course under William Beicher, instructor at YHS.

Brown obtained 436 points out of a possible 500. In addition to winning $25 prize money and a plaque for his school, Jim is now eligible to compete in the state finals at Grove City June 13.

Should the Youngville lad win state laurels, he will then go to Washington, D. C. in August to compete with winners from the fifty states and Canada for scholarship prizes totaling $5,000.

A Youngville High student won second place honors in the Road-E-O also. He was Roger Gourley, 17, a junior. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Gourley, RD 1 Sugar Grove.

The junior tallied 432 points, just four points off the winner's total. He is completing a course in driver training at YHS. He received a $15 award.

Third place went to Jerry Johnson, 16, a junior at Warren High. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Johnson, 110 Pleasant drive. Johnson lives just a few doors away from last year's winner, Tom Watt. Jerry scored 428 points. His award was $10.

"Having two winners from Youngville High certainly reflects on the ability and enthusiasm of Bill Beicher, the driver instructor there," a committeeman said.

Don King, chairman of the Road-E-O, stated that all contestants were enthusiastic and the competition was keen. He expressed gratitude to all high school instructors for their support.

Sponsors of the cash awards were County Motor Club (AAA), Warren County Association of Insurance Agents and Warren Transfer Co. Cars used were 1959 models, Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouths, furnished by Midtown Motors, Dan's Chevrolet and H. L. Link.

Homer Bowersox of AAA was at the scene early in the day to begin judging.

Warren Jaycees are very gratified and thankful to all who helped to make this Safe Driving project a real success.

"Each year interest has grown and each year the driving ability of our youth has improved. This would indicate that our high school driving programs are really turning out safe, well trained young drivers," he continued.

A word of advice to parents was passed along by the committee. "Be sure your boy or girl enrolls in a high school driving training program. You can be sure they will receive the best possible driver training, thus making them safer drivers on our nation's highways."

Area Officer Aids in Flood Relief Mission

With announcement that Ensign Richard M. Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Nelson of Pittsfield RD 1, is serving with Helicopter Utility Squadron Two at Lakehurst, N. J., Naval Air Station, comes an additional report that he took part in mid-April flood relief missions while on temporary detachment to the icebreaker USS Edisto at Montevideo, Uruguay.

The Navy news dispatch indicates when heavy rains generated great pressure on the dam at Ricon Del Bonete, Ensign Nelson flew in explosives to blast a diversionary channel in the dam's reservoir. The channel eased the water pressure, but flooded surrounding lowlands.

Nelson's helicopter and another from the detachment evacuated Paso De La Torres, a city near the dam. The people were flown to Chamberlain, where a refugee city had been set up, and the 'copters flew in food and emergency supplies, because all land supply routes were impassable.

Before entering the Navy in July, 1956, young Nelson attended Look Haven State Teachers' College.

Some folks think the three Scotts Brands of seed represent "good, better, best"—three grades of quality. Not so! Each Scotts Brand is best—for a particular kind of lawn (see below). The prices are different and the coverages are different... some seeds are smaller than others, so there are more in a box. Scotts is your safest investment for long-term enjoyment of your lawn, because whichever blend you choose, you get 100% perennial seed, 99.91% weed-free—and it's right for sun or shade! Now—

Getting Bored? Perhaps You'll Find Reason Here

How long has it been since you—Tackled a job you were a little afraid of, instead of looking around for an excuse to get out of doing it?

Invited a stranger, perhaps a visitor from another country, into your home?

Made a trip to the library to get books to read up on a subject that suddenly caught your interest?

Tracked down an old friend you hadn't heard from in years?

Sat down and tried to figure out how to make your home more convenient and attractive and how to overcome the small annoyances that keep irritating you?

Rated yourself on the kind of job you are doing, whether you are a working woman or a homemaker or a combination of the two? Decided to work toward a distant goal?

Went over your outside activities with a critical eye, determined to drop any one of them that didn't offer you real enjoyment or a sense of satisfaction?

Made the first gesture of friendship toward a new neighbor? Attempted to learn something new and challenging?

Said of an evening out, "This was fun. It was so different."

Became friends with someone considerably older or younger than your own age group?

Planned a trip to a far off place, whether or not you might ever be able to afford it?

Did anything to make yourself a better educated person, such as reading great books you missed in school, studying art appreciation, music, attending a series of lectures or enrolling in a night school course?

If it has been quite awhile since you've done many of these things, no wonder if you complain your life is getting dull.

French Scent Is Top Companion

Have Splashing Good Time On Travels

BY ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

Those of us who are wary about taking our very best perfumes on a trip can now relax. We can take them in eau de toilette form and have a fine splash.

A famous French perfume, now available in this form, is ideal for summer wear and summer travel. It blends jasmine with rose and with hyacinth, heliotrope and honeysuckle, adds a dash of orange blossoms and rounds out with a hint of fresh woodland greenery. That's a lot for one bottle but it's been managed.

The resulting scent, far from being overpowering, is light, sophisticated, sparkling. And for the budget-minded, perhaps the best part of the whole thing is to have a famous French scent in eau de toilette form. This means that it's far less expensive than the perfume since it's lighter. It also means that you can make lavish use of it during the hot summer months.

An eau de toilette ideal for the summer traveler has arrived in this country from France. In the same scent as a famous French perfume, it can be splashed on lavishly right after bath.

Why the "Limit in Fishing?"

Through the courtesy of our good friend Ray Lane at the Fish Cultural Station on Farnsworth Road, Clarendon, we have a topic from the magazine, New York State Conservationist, which we hope is taken to mind by the "different" few who choose to set their own limits in taking game.
"Fishing season is under way. Through the year, sportsmen will take up again the traditional challenge, the pursuit of the Holy Grail for fishermen and hunters everywhere—the limit. There's no doubt about it, this is the badge of distinction, the mark of success of our modern-day sportsmen.
"And of course, it doesn't make the slightest difference what the limit is, just so it's filled. Today it's trout, so the angler must reel 8, unless he is on restricted waters, with a lower established limit. On these waters the ego will be sated with less. Why? Because that's the limit. Or take black bass. Your smile is just as broad, you have taken the limit.
"Just how did we get started on this psychological rat race anyway? Quite simply. Limits for fish and game came into being as one of the conservation measures adopted to more equitably stretch a limited supply to meet increased demand. When fishermen and hunters become more numerous than the fish and game they seek, then there's good logic for limits—when logically applied.
But just where, how and why we, as sportsmen, lost sight of the end and substituted in its stead, the means as the ultimate measure of a successful day afield, we're unable to say. If you want our opinion though—it's the limit!"

Tom Gerarde should be in Florida by now, preparing for upcoming pro bouts. Since pounding the leather for money in Florida, Gerarde, latest from a fighting family and a son of his native Tonia, has had one pro fight, winning by decision. While in Miami Beach working out, Tom ran into bantamweight Pablo Carripides who has had two television prelim bouts, and Carmie Price. Both Carripides and Price won Golden Glove titles in Pittsburgh in Feb., 1958, the same night Gerarde did. Erie's Johnny Bizzaro has only dropped one in a long line of pro fights, and that was to Price. Tom expects to drop back north when he has a chance to see his friends, and the queen.
Hot Stove season is fast approaching. Tomorrow marks the opener in Junior League when Kiwanis vs. Style Shop; Betts against Clarendon; and Sheffield vs. Youngsville in the curtain raisers. A benefit game was played late in April for Cancer fund which opened play for Hot Stovers. Warren Rockets have tucked two games under their belts, will be three after tonight Bonavita's slug-gers invade Municipal Stadium.

Be Close When You Miss

Develop the putting touch with the objective of limiting the distance the ball rolls past the cup to no more than from eight to 12 inches.
I am not a believer in the "Never up, never in" theory. For every putt I have seen stop on the front lip because of not having been hit hard enough, I have seen two which either hit the left edge and whipped out, or did the same on the right side because of too much speed. If the ball hadn't been stroked so hard in these instances it would have dropped.
The best missed putt is the one nearest the hole.
Relatively few refine the stroke to the extent that they hit the ball perfectly true—with no twist of any kind on it. How can you tell whether you are obtaining this result? The answer is by one of the simplest devices, yet one which I rarely see in use. Paint a perfect red circle around the circumference of the ball. Place the ball on the putting surface so this circle is vertical and on line with the intended course of the ball.
If the line doesn't waver or wobble as the ball turns, you know it has been hit with a square blade coming through right on line.
If the line wavers, the stroke is faulty.
NEXT: The five fundamentals.

Whitt Winner of the Memphis Open Tourney

MEMPHIS (AP) — Don Whitt steadied under pressure Monday to win the $25,000 Memphis Open Golf Tournament in a three-way sudden death playoff.
The victory brought him top money of $3,500 and snapped a four-year jinx. It was the first PGA tournament win for the Borego Spring, Calif. pro since he joined the circuit in 1955.
South Africa's Gary Player, the 23-year-old flash from Johannesburg, wound up second. Al Balding of Markham, Ont., Canada was third.
Whitt, in trouble all the way and in danger of losing his lead, fired a clutch birdie on the 18th hole to wind up tied with Player and Balding with a 72-hole total of 272.

Tigers Give Up Cellar Spot Again to New York Yankees

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like the Detroit Tigers have had their fill of the American League cellar, leaving it as a booby prize in a two-game Boston-New York series opening tonight at Yankee Stadium.

The Tigers, who closed a 38-day stay in eighth place by plunking the Yankees into the cellar last week, slipped back to the bottom by losing the first game of a Sunday doubleheader at Cleveland. But they gave it back to New York's world champions by winning the nightcap.

Monday night they jumped to sixth place for the first time since the second day of the season with a three-run seventh-inning rally that beat Kansas City 4-3.

It was the only game scheduled in the AL, but shook up the middle of the standings. While slipping Boston to seventh, the Detroit victory also dipped Kansas City to fifth as idle Washington moved up to fourth.

Gail Harris' two-run homer capped the Detroit rally that cracked a 1-1 tie and Ray Narleski then came on in the ninth to save rookie Jerry Davie's first major league victory.

Dick Williams, who had three of the A's eight hits, singled and scored on Harry Chitt's pinch triple that chased Davie (1-1), a 26-year-old right-hander. Narleski put the lead run on base by walking Hal Smith, then struck out Bill Tuttle and ended it by getting Whitey Herzog on a pop up.

Podres Proving To Be Ace of the Dodgers' Staff

National League sports
By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this the year Johnny Podres finally gets the breaks and becomes a big winner?

The stocky southpaw is remembered as the youngster who pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their only world championship and as a one-time National League leader in shutouts and earned-run average. Yet he's been a tough luck guy more often than not.

He shut out the New York Yankees 2-0 with an eight-hitter in the seventh game of the 1955 World Series, and he led the NL with six shutouts and a 2.66 ERA in 1957 (after a hitch in the Navy). Last year, however, was his first without serious injury and he hit his major league high with 13 victories. But he also dipped to his low in defeats with 15-five by one run, two by a pair of runs—as the Dodgers finished seventh in Los Angeles.

Now he's back trying to beat the tough-luck jinx again, and at the moment he's the ace of the Dodger staff with a 5-2 record after pitching the best game of his career Monday for a twelfth, 2-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants. It was his third straight success.

Podres had a no-hitter for 7 1/3 innings, then gave up consecutive singles by Daryl Spencer and Bob Schmidt. The Dodgers' third double play saved his shutout.

That pushed Los Angeles within .002 percentage points of idle third place Pittsburgh. Both are 3 1/2 games behind first place Milwaukee, beaten 7-3 at Philadelphia. The Chicago Cubs belted St. Louis 9-4 in the only other game scheduled.

The Cubs, who had lost four straight, three to the Cards, scored two in the first, then put it away at St. Louis on Jim Marshall's three-run homer in the second off losing reliever Ernie Broglio (0-3). Bobby Thomson and Dale Long also homered for the Cubs. Rookie Bob Anderson (3-3), who had lost three straight, won it with Bill Henry's three-innings of one-hit relief.

Manager Al Lopez Confident Team Will Bounce Back

CHICAGO (AP)—With Manager Al Lopez promising, "We'll bounce back," the Chicago White Sox tonight try to start proving to their fans they are as good at home as on the road.

A two-game series with the league-leading Cleveland Indians will open a 15-game stay in Comiskey Park.

So far, the Sox—one game out of the lead—have compiled a 16-6 road record and a disappointing 7-9 at home.

A sweep of the two-game set against the Indians would put the Sox back in the lead they enjoyed briefly during their just-concluded road junket when they hit a 9-4 pace.

The "bouncing back" refrain of Lopez came after the Sox lost their last two games in Kansas City with their pitchers yielding 36 hits.

"But we aren't discouraged," said Lopez. "Don't forget a year ago at this time we were in last place."

Fed's Tax Problem With Bobo Stops Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former middleweight champion Bobo Olson has canceled his June 8 fight with Sonny Ray of Chicago, blaming federal income tax problems.

Matchmaker Benny Ford announced Olson's decision Monday and added that "the government would have taken his whole purse."

He said Olson would try to work out a settlement of the claim—amount undisclosed.

Ford said there isn't enough time to substitute for Olson for the June 8 bout.

The Internal Revenue Service's claim against Olson is reported to be about $48,000.

Nicklaus' Feats Earn Him Handle In British Open

By JOHN BARROW
SANDWICH, England (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, 19-year-old American sophomore, went out today for his second-round match in the British Amateur Golf Championship with a new tag—"First Time Lucky."

He got the nickname after Britons watching him play in the tournament had heard about his successes in several big-time competitions at the first attempt.

The Columbus, Ohio, youngster won the North and South, the Trans-Mississippi, Ohio Open, both his Walker Cup matches and the St. George's (Sandwich) Golf Vase competitions all at his first go.

Nicklaus and three other U.S. Walker Cup players all won first round matches Monday. Nicklaus defeated Henry Hubble of England 8 and 6 in his first match ever in the British competition; Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia beat Tom Hartwright of England 9 and 8; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City beat Eustace Crawley of England 5 and 3; and Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., beat Nigel Howard of England 7 and 5.

Hot Flash Bucs Join Braves For Three-Game Play

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, currently the hottest team in the National League, put their five-game winning streak on the line tonight against the league-leading Milwaukee Braves in the start of a crucial three-game series.

Joining the Pirates for the series will be new reserve outfielder Joe Christopher, recalled Monday from Columbus to replace the ailing Bob Clemente.

Christopher had been batting a lousy .321 at Columbus and led the International League in base stealing with 15. Last year he played with Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League and hit .327, including 15 doubles, 10 triples and 8 home runs.

Clemente was placed on the disabled list with a sore elbow. He will be out for a minimum of 30 days. In order to put Clemente on the disabled list, the Pirates were forced to ask waivers on utility infielder Gene Baker.

Little southpaw Harvey Haddix will pitch for the Pirates, who are tied for third place with the Los Angeles Dodgers and only 3 1/2 games out of first place. Haddix has a 3-2 record for the season.

His opponent will be Lew Burdette, with a 7-2 record. Burdette has the most victories of any pitcher in the major leagues.

Milwaukee has won two of the three games between the clubs so far this year.

'They Got Millions, I Got The Fighter': D'Amato
By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Cus D'Amato is this kind of a guy. He gave Floyd Patterson a monkey his man fancied in a pet shop—anything to keep the fighter happy—because without the heavy-weight champion D'Amato's Strange Little World is kaput.

Before the Roy Harris bout in Los Angeles last August, Cus interrupted one of his long soliloquies on the "evils of the IBC" (you can wind him up any time of day) to admit, "If we lose this fight, I'm through, washed up."

His hole card in the three-year fight against Jim Norris' monopoly has been: "They got the millions, I got the fighter."

PATTERSON—QUIET, MOODY, withdrawn—is not unaware that Cus is using him, or that he's called a phantom champion. But he's never wavered in his loyalty to the man who picked him up hanging around the musty Gramercy Gym in New York's lower East Side and nudged him to boxing's No. 1 position. About Cus' ramblings, he shrugs his bemused smile, "Oh, you-know Cus. He just talks."

When Floyd went to Helsinki for the 1952 Olympics, a writer made direct overtures to turn him over to another manager when he turned professional. Floyd refused.

D'Amato inspires those kind of loyalties. Charley Black, a fight manager, was standing on a street corner several years ago. It was the day before Christmas. D'Amato came along, broke.

"YOU GOT ANY DOUGIE, CHARLEY?" he asked. "I gotta give my annual party for the boys at my gym."

Charley fished in his pocket and pulled out a $50 bill. It was the last $50 he had. Black, whose fighting stable has vanished (Frankie Ryan, a lightweight, was the last) is one of D'Amato's entourage.

For a guy who's supposed to be cautious, Cus can also be suckered: A glib line by a man who couldn't deliver cost him $10,000 on the motion pictures of the Tate Rademacher fight. There was Cecil Rhodes Jr., the shortest-lived boxing promoter on record. Cus won't even mention the name, except to say, "He never got a quarter of my money."

D'Amato paid off Patterson's first wife before she crossed him and broke the marriage news in a scandal magazine.

D'AMATO MIGHT NOT SEE Patterson for several weeks at a time. He won't know where he is. Could you see Al Weill letting Rocky Marciano get out of touch? Patterson sets his own training program. Cus only moves in just before the fight.

"I used to tell managers," says Cus, "I'm preparing Floyd for his role psychologically as well as physically. They twirled their fingers like I was crazy. They didn't understand."

Cus, who quit high school after two years, is supposed to have read Nietzsche and Freud.

"Nietzsche who?" he frowns. "I once picked up a paperback on a newsstand because I heard about this guy Freud and wanted to find out what he had to say. I threw it away after the first chapter because I already knew everything he had to say."

Solar Wins Come-From-Behind, 6-5

Solar Electric Bombers fought through a tight fourth inning to come from behind a 5-0 400 Block lead and score a 5-4 win over the Merchants to open City loop season. Curtain raiser was played on the state Hospital diamond Monday night.

Although held to three hits by Bonnie Sturdevant, Bombers made the most of wildness of the Merchant twirler who walked six batters and hit an additional four.

Howie Stevens, relief for Bob Schmauder on the Solar mound in third, was credited for the triumph.

Boys from 400 Block struck for singles in first two frames. In third, they pushed over three runs to set the pace 5-0. Stevens then stepped on the hill for Solar and tossed a one-hit game remaining four innings.

In bottom of fourth, Bombers loaded the bags on walks and scored twice on fielder's choice and a hit batsman. Joey Massa rammed a sharp single to center to drive in two more. Bombers were behind one run, 5-4.

Catcher Joe Mistretta drove in the tying marker on a sacrifice fly to left. Massa tallied winning marker, alertly racing home on an error.

Yanks Give Four Players for Terry And Hector Lopez

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees today traded pitcher Johnny Kucks, and Tom Sturdivant and infielder Jerry Lumpe to Kansas City for pitcher Ralph Terry and infielder Hector Lopez.
The A's also will get a fourth man to be named before the start of next season.
The last place Yankees reacquired title to Terry, a 23-year-old pitcher who was traded to the A's in 1957. Terry has a 2-4 record in seven starts for Kansas City this year.

Lopez, on a hot batting streak, is hitting .281 with some home runs and 24 runs batted in. Although he has played second base for the A's, he probably will be shifted to third base for the Yankees.
Lumpe, who has platooned with Andy Carey and Cleis Boyer at third for the Yankees, is batting .222. Sturdivant, 29, had an 0-2 record in three starts and Kucks, 25, also a right-hander has an 0-1 record for one start.
The players will report immediately.

SCHOOL CLUBS ENJOY PICNIC

Spanish and Latin clubs of Warren High School held an outing at Wilder Field yesterday afternoon after school, with about 120 attending the event. The time was spent playing baseball, badminton, and enjoying the delicious refreshments brought by the students. Advisors for the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Kaufman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Stachowiak, while Mr. and Mrs. Peck served as chaperones.

next regular session of the Pearl River County grand jury in November. The law requires the grand jury to keep secret all testimony offered before it. Therefore, pending grand jury action, I shall not reveal any part of the contents of the FBI report."
Circuit Judge Sebe Dale of Columbia promptly announced that Coleman was hamstringing the court by holding the FBI report.
"He has no right to hold it," Dale said. "That report belongs to the district attorney and the county attorney because they have to present it to court."
Dist. Atty. Vernon Broom said at Poplarville he didn't know why Coleman was holding the report but added he wouldn't try to get it.

Attorneys Summing Up In Freeport Bank Trial

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Opposing attorneys in the U. S. District Court trial of five former officials of the Old Freeport Bank have summed up the 19 days of testimony and the case was ready to go to the jury today.
Defense Atty. Alexander Cooper Monday labeled the testimony of several government witnesses as "phony." He said that in one instance, in which Dr. Richard W. Heineman was accused of accepting a loan kickback, Heineman really made an "investment."
U. S. Atty. Hubert I. Teitelbaum asked the jury to remember that government witnesses told the same story, but didn't know each other.

FRAUD SUSPECTED

Following a complaint from a Franklin home owner a crew of Pittsburgh men charged $299 for a small roof repair job, police arrested two men on a charge of violation of the city mercantile licensing ordinance. George Hugo Shook, James Francis Testa, both of Pittsburgh, were each fined $55, including costs, following a hearing before Alderman Paul F. Bedford.

an assistant principal, retorted that the school's 3,200 pupils all take social or political study courses and the four "are the only ones who wound up thinking in Nazi terms."
The youths — three 15 and one 16 — were investigated after authorities learned they had distributed subversive literature at the school.
Judge Margaret J. Spellacy ordered psychiatric examination of the youth with the high IQ prior to passing sentence.
Judge Spellacy ordered the other three to write 10-page compositions on the best form of government and put them on 10 p. m. curfew.

Harrisburg

(Turn to Page Six)
ren, long-time physician and friend of Mr. Gibson, was summoned, together with Dr. William E. Pease, Harrisburg doctor. The latter attributed death to a heart attack, the representative having been under a physician's care for a heart condition and having been home during the recent primary election recess for a "complete rest".

Also with him at the hotel at the time death occurred was Donald Huber, a Bell Telephone Company executive, and Rep. James K. Davis, Republican from Forest county.

House leaders planned to meet during the day to arrange some observance, perhaps a short recess in Gibson's memory. In statements to the Associated Press, a number of colleagues paid tribute to his "dedication as a lawmaker."

Governor David L. Lawrence said of him: "All of us in state government are deeply grieved by the death of Allen M. Gibson. I offer my deepest sympathy to his wife and family in their bereavement."

Senator M. Harvey Taylor, president pro tempore and long-time GOP legislative leader, called Mr. Gibson "one of the most respected legislators on Capitol Hill."

Representative Stuart Helm, chairman of the House GOP policy committee, and Auditor General Charles C. Smith, a former House GOP floor leader, said "Pennsylvania has suffered a great loss in Gibson's passing."

"The Commonwealth has lost an outstanding and able leader," commented Representative Albert W. Johnson, House GOP floor leader.

In a telephone conversation with the Times-Mirror this morning, Dr. Chapman, dean of the Pennsylvania Senate and chairman of its important appropriations committee, commented:
"Although I knew my good friend and associate, Allen Gibson, was a very sick man, his sudden passing comes as a severe shock to me, personally, as it does to all members of the legislature. He has been for many years an important cog in Republican affairs in Warren county and in Harrisburg. Finding a man to replace him will be a difficult task."

Mr. Gibson is the second member of the House to die since the 1959 session started. Rep. Granville E. Jones, Philadelphia Democrat, died in February after a long illness. Jones' widow was elected last week to serve out his term.

Many expressions of sympathy and affection for the Warren legislator have been heard since news of his death was received.

Among these was a telegram received by the Times-Mirror from Richard C. Frame, chairman of Venango county Republican committee, saying: "The death of Allen Gibson is a deeply felt loss to the Republican party. A tireless worker for our party and for good government, Allen's leadership contributed much to our Commonwealth. As a devoted public servant and beloved friend, we mourn his passing."

Deadlock Indicated in Steel Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP)—A deadlock on basic issues was indicated in the steel industry contract negotiations which resume today and then go into recess until next Tuesday.
Negotiators for the 12 largest steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America met for two hours Monday, and skipped the usual briefing session for newsmen after the meeting.
The negotiations, which began May 5, are on terms for a new contract to replace the three-year pact that expires June 30. If no agreement is reached by that date, 500,000 members in the industry almost certainly will go on strike.
The union is seeking substantial pay increases, which have not been specified publicly. It also seeks a cut in the 40-hour work week and other benefits.
The industry wants a freeze on wages as an anti-inflationary move. Basic wages now average $3.03 an hour.

Court House Has Automatic Help In Assessments

Warren County put into operation today a completely automatic and 100 per cent accurate writing and accounting machine which can save approximately 1,746 working hours in listing property owner and total valuation of property.
The unit was bought from Corp. of Cleveland through the branch office in Erie of which William Strachan is manager and Tom Lee sales representative.

As each property tax record is being written mechanically on the accounting Addressograph, a tabulated proof journal is being produced simultaneously. The journal shows individually posted values of land and improvements, exemptions, total valuations and item numbers. The accounting machine provides auto columnar accumulations of figure amounts, giving page, volume and grand totals.

The automatic equipment is economical in assessment department operation and improves service to the public. The extra time saved by personnel, may be used for better public service.

The machine is 100 per cent accurate with automatic punched holes in the indestructible metal master records, eliminating manual checking.
Cost of the apparatus was $17,000.

Co-Ed Is Disfigured By Practical Joker

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old coed who was threatened with blindness and disfigurement when silver nitrate was thrown into her face May 20 has regained normal vision in her left eye, her doctor says.

But the physician said Sheila Rene Neils still sees only a little light with her right eye.
The doctor said scars on the girl's face and body are clearing up and there apparently will be no permanent disfigurement.

Tommy Ray Lester, 19, a fellow North Texas State College student who admitted throwing the caustic on the girl, is free on bond on charges of aggravated assault. Lester claimed the incident was a practical joke which backfired.

Technician Admits Strangling His Wife

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald L. Houser, 35, Andrews Air Force Base dental technician, faces grand jury action on a charge of first degree murder.

Houser, a Pennsylvania State University science graduate, admitted Monday at a coroner's inquest he strangled his 32-year-old pregnant wife, Rene Louise, early Friday morning in their flat. Mrs. Houser was formerly of DuBois, Pa.

Capt. Sanford L. Billet, an Andrews AFB psychiatrist who has been treating Houser since he attempted to commit suicide last February, said the airman came to him immediately after the slaying and told him about it.

Billet quoted Houser as saying he killed his wife so that she would not suffer because of his inadequacy to provide for her and their unborn child.

Houser, not represented by counsel, told the inquest that "All the statements that have been made here by these witnesses today are, so far as I know, the truth."

Former Atty. General Accused in Dem. Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans demanded today that former Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. be allowed to reply formally to Democratic charges that he was overly friendly in handling an antitrust case.
The charges, involving American Telephone & Telegraph Co., were made Monday by four Democratic members of the House Antitrust subcommittee. Two other Democratic members did not sign the report, and the three Republicans dissented vigorously.

Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said that "Brownell knew all about this situation and could easily have appeared before the committee if he wishes."

Death Closes Gotham's Famous Welfare Case

NEW YORK (AP)—A 92-year-old Staten Island man, accused of cheating the New York City Welfare Department of $14,000 in relief checks while amassing $30,000 in blue chip securities, died Monday night in a hospital.
A hospital spokesman said James Flaherty apparently died of malnutrition.
Dist. Atty. John M. Braisted Jr. said Flaherty's death ruled out any action by his office. The case was referred to Braisted eight days ago when Flaherty was taken from his furnished room to the hospital and his assets were uncovered.

Simple Hairdo Adds To Summer's Fun

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

Summer is the logical time to change your hairdo to one that's simple, classic and easy to keep. The reason for this is that summer lends itself to outdoor living which means, in turn, that hair gets large doses of salt spray, sun, sand and perspiration. It needs shampooing frequently and quick pincurles to keep it in shape.
The bouffant hairdo, which looks well in the city in winter, will look unkempt in the summer. This is the time to find a hairstyle that you'll like for the summer months and have your hair restyled.
Your hair should be short enough so that even if "the curl" comes out, it looks well. It should also be short enough so that you can pin curl it yourself in fifteen minutes at the most.
And don't forget: sun and salt water are hard on your hair. Both will dry your hair out. So give yourself a weekly hot oil treatment during the summer.

Every summer the beaches of America display figures that are far from perfect. Rolls of fat, quivering upper arms and stubby legs are far from decorative. Yet it's these offenders who most often squeeze themselves into an insufficient bathing suit.
Many women do have figure problems which are the results of the wrong diet or an indulgent diet and too little exercise. This doesn't mean they should slay away from beaches. Swimming might help to put them back in shape.
But it does mean that a woman with a figure problem should pick her swimsuits with care. Not for her the two-piece suit or even the maillot. She needs a suit which will be kind to her figure. It should fit, first of all.
Many women feel they somehow will become smaller if they squeeze into a swimsuit a size too small. Instead, they bulge and ooze. And it should have a pleated dressmaker skirt and straps.

Your bathtub is a far better cure for insomnia than sleeping pills. A hot bath, with water softener, bath oil or bath salts will send you right off to sleep if you soak in it for fifteen or twenty minutes.
The reason? It unkinks tired muscles and releases tension. Try it and see.

Bride Creates Aura With Right Fragrance

This bride has picked for her wedding day a perfume that's a blend of spice and floral. Here, she applies it with golden stopper to pulse spot in back of each ear.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

Floating down the aisle in a misty aura of fragrance, the bride is everything a bride should be. Ethereal and radiant on the big day, she trails a cloud of scent that people will remember when the reception is over.
To get a fragrance that will last through a day that's often hectic, start with your bath. Add toilet water to the warm water and soak in the delicious fragrance. After you've stepped from the tub, dust yourself with bath powder in matching scent. Then before you dress, apply perfume to the pulse spots and give it about 20 minutes to "set" before you dress.
Any bride would love a perfume that combines spice and floral in a beautiful blend. And she'll appreciate the beautiful crystal bottle in which it comes. It has a golden stopper shaped like a crescent and comes in a box lined with green satin.

BIRTHDAY EVENT AT CRIBBS HOME

CLARENDON—A group from Clarendon and Tiona Methodist churches motored to Meadville recently to hold a birthday party for members of the Cribbs Home for the Aged. A brief program, in charge of Rev. Hubert Jicha, was enjoyed, after which cake and ice cream were served.

Eight members, whose birthdays are this month, were seated at the birthday table, centered with a lovely cake, with gifts at each place. All joined in singing a "Happy Birthday" song, and seemed very pleased with the event.

The visiting group toured the building, visiting some of those unable to attend the party, and visited Mrs. Margaret McBride, a former Clarendon resident. She told of the fine way guests are treated at the home, which is indeed a boon for the aged and a project which the Methodist charge can well be proud of.

Move Reported To Draft "Rocky" for President

NEW YORK (AP) — The first rumble of a move to draft Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination was heard Friday. Rockefeller has disavowed White House intentions. Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright (D-NY) said he and other Rockefeller supporters in Congress have agreed to enter the governor's name in the New Hampshire presidential primary. The primary will be held March 8, 1960. Wainwright said Rockefeller had no knowledge of the move. "Actually," said Wainwright, "this is a true draft movement. In fact, my guess is the governor will disavow it."

Rockefeller did just that through a spokesman, who reported that the governor stood on his previous position, that he is concentrating on the job of being governor and has no presidential ambitions. Wainwright said Rockefeller supporters in Congress agreed to have Rep. Chester E. Mellow (R-NH) place the governor's name on the New Hampshire ballot. Under New Hampshire law, a petition with 100 signers is sufficient to enter a name on the ballot. Within 10 days, however, the proposed candidate can have the printing of his name on the ballot stopped at his own request.
